

GWINNETT COUNTY POLICE FOUNDATION

P.O. Box 491026 • Lawrenceville, GA 30049

gwinnettpolicefoundation.org

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gwinnett County Police Foundation Names Britt Ramroop as New Chief Executive Officer

Lawrenceville, GA – June 3, 2025 – The Gwinnett County Police Foundation is proud to announce the appointment of Britt Ramroop as its new Chief Executive Officer. A longtime Gwinnett County resident and seasoned nonprofit leader, Ramroop brings more than 15 years of experience in fundraising, community engagement, and donor stewardship to the role.

Ramroop's professional journey is defined by her commitment to strengthening communities through connection, trust, and meaningful partnerships. Most recently, she served as Director of Fundholder Experience at the Community Foundation for Northeast Georgia, where she led strategic initiatives, deepened donor relationships, and helped grow philanthropic impact across the region.

"As someone who cares deeply about this community, I'm truly honored and excited to serve as CEO of the Gwinnett County Police Foundation," said Ramroop. "This opportunity brings together my professional experience in nonprofit leadership and my personal passion for building stronger, more connected communities. I'm committed to supporting law enforcement in a way that uplifts not only the officers, but also their families and the entire Gwinnett community. Behind every uniform is a story—and those stories deserve to be heard, honored, and shared. I look forward to helping tell them while expanding the Foundation's reach, deepening trust, and creating lasting impact."

As CEO, Ramroop will lead the Foundation's efforts to support the Gwinnett County Police Department through charitable services and community-based initiatives. These include emergency financial assistance for officers, scholarships for their children, and support for youth and outreach programs. She will also spearhead fundraising efforts and foster public-private partnerships to help provide critical resources, equipment, and training not currently funded through the department's budget.

"Bringing Britt on board as our first full-time CEO marks an exciting new chapter for the Gwinnett County Police Foundation," said Raymer Sale, Board Chair of the Foundation. "This step reflects the tremendous growth and momentum we've built over the past several years. We're now standing on our own two feet as an organization, with the capacity to better support the Gwinnett County Police Department and respond more effectively to the needs of both officers and the community. Britt brings not only a wealth of experience, but a deep love for this county—and we're confident her leadership will help elevate our mission and expand our impact."

The Gwinnett County Police Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization (Federal Tax ID 58-2515113) dedicated to enhancing public safety and strengthening community trust through philanthropic support. For more information about its mission and programs, visit www.gwinnettpolicefoundation.org.

GWINNETT COUNTY POLICE FOUNDATION

P.O. Box 491026 • Lawrenceville, GA 30049

gwinnettpolicefoundation.org

Media Contact:

Gwinnett County Police Foundation

P.O. Box 491026 Lawrenceville, GA 30049

Email: info@gwinnettpolicefoundation.org

Website: www.gwinnettpolicefoundation.org

Britt Ramroop